Overview of the Thesis Process

The thesis is an independent project based on primary or secondary research. Media-based theses are possible with Program approval. Theses must conform to academic standards. Students submitting the thesis must follow the following guidelines in the preparation and submission of the thesis. Failure to follow these guidelines will delay your graduation.

M.A. students choose one of three options to fulfill the GPAI capstone requirement: Thesis, Research Portfolio, or Practicum. Students should decide in their second semester (or by the completion of 18 credits) which option they will pursue.

In order to pursue the Thesis option, students should:

1. Have a minimum GPA of 3.5
2. Discuss their topic and get formal approval to pursue the Thesis option from both the Thesis Advisor and Academic Advisor
3. The Academic Advisor should send an email to the SGPIA Student Advisor GPIAadvising@newschool.edu stating approval to pursue the thesis option

Students writing the thesis register for two courses: Thesis Workshop followed by Thesis Supervision. The steps for pursuing a thesis are as follows:

I. Workshop Semester

1. Thesis Workshop
Upon consultation and approval by their advisors, students pursuing the Thesis Option register for Thesis Workshop, which focuses on designing and starting the research project. Approvals should be obtained by the end of the Spring semester for Fall Thesis Workshop and end of the Fall semester for Spring Thesis Workshop.

The Thesis Workshop is taken the semester before completing the thesis. Students should draft a preliminary 2-page statement of their proposed thesis topic and bring this statement to the first workshop meeting. The goal of the workshop is to clarify the topic, questions, data, and methods that will be used, and to begin the process of writing. The Workshop is a prerequisite for registering for Thesis Supervision.

2. Thesis Committee
Prior to or concomitant with taking the Thesis Workshop, students put together a Thesis Committee, which consists of a primary reader and a secondary reader. The primary reader is known as the thesis supervisor (not necessarily the same person as the academic advisor) and must be a full-time New School faculty member. The secondary reader can be an academic, researcher, or professional in a field related to the student’s work and may be external to the program. External readers must be approved by the thesis supervisor.

3. Thesis Registration
By the last week of the Thesis Workshop students must submit a Thesis Registration Form, available in the GPIA office and online. This registration form must be signed by the thesis supervisor and turned in to the GPIA Front Desk by December 16th for students completing their thesis the following Spring semester, by May 10th for students completing their thesis the following Fall semester.

II. Supervision Semester

1. Thesis Supervision
In the semester following the Thesis Workshop, students register for Thesis Supervision, usually under the name of their thesis supervisor. Thesis Supervision carries 3 credits. Students must have a thesis proposal and a thesis supervisor prior to registering for Thesis Supervision. At the beginning of the semester, students submit their finished thesis proposal to their first and second readers and work out a plan for completing the thesis. Theses are researched and written independently during the semester, with the advice and guidance of the thesis supervisor.

2. Thesis Submission to the Committee
Students work with their readers to make a schedule for drafting, commenting, and revising. If thesis students do not conform to this schedule, they may miss the Program’s final submission deadline (see above) and their graduation may be delayed. If approved, the completed manuscript is submitted to the Program.

3. Thesis Deposit with the Program
In order to graduate, students must fill out the Online Thesis Submission Form, and attach the following documents:
   1. PDF version of the approved thesis (also known as the deposit copy), bearing the signatures of the committee members on the cover page (see Thesis Format Guidelines, below)
   2. PDF version of the completed Thesis Checklist (see Thesis Checklist, below)

Submissions are accepted exclusively via the online form. Questions should be directed to gpiacapstone@newschool.edu

The supervisor also must submit a passing grade (P) for the Thesis Supervision. The thesis does not receive a letter grade.

The final deposit of the thesis is due on the last day of the term. Please note: this is the deadline to deposit your Thesis final version, which should have been already reviewed, approved and signed off by your advisor and/or readers. Theses deposited after that date will delay the student’s graduation by one semester.
GPIA Thesis Format Guidelines

Length of thesis: approximately 45-65 pages of text (not including title page, abstract, table of contents, bibliography, notes, or appendices).

Order of Thesis: The thesis should conform to this order:

1. Title Page (do not count or number this page)
   Type the title of the thesis in all Capital letters centered 2" from the top of the page.
   Double space and type “by”.
   Double space and type the students’ name, as the author, in full as it will appear in the diploma.
   Type “A THESIS” approximately 2.5” below the name.
   Double space then type (single spaced):
       Submitted to The New School in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of MASTER OF ARTS in International Affairs
   Double space then type: The Julien J. Studley Graduate Program in International Affairs.
   Double space and type the month and year in which the thesis is submitted.
   At the bottom of the page include signature lines for first and second readers, printed names of readers, and date approved.

2. Abstract 200 words maximum (do not count or number this page)

3. Table of contents

4. List of Tables (if any)

5. List of Figures (if any)

6. Glossary or list of abbreviations/symbols etc.

7. Text of thesis (divided into chapters or major sections. Each chapter or major section must begin on a new page, and the chapter titles in the text and in the table of contents must match.)
   A typical thesis might have sections approximating the following. Please confer with your supervisor to determine what will work best in your particular case:
   Typical thesis outline:
       a. Introduction
       b. Literature review closely related to statement of problem
       c. Formal statement of hypothesis
       d. Description of research methods
       e. Findings and analysis
       f. Conclusion

8. Appendices (if any)

9. Bibliography

GPIA Thesis Citation Guidelines

Check with your thesis supervisor for their preferred citation style. Regardless of specific style, citations must follow academically accepted norms and consistently conform to a single recognized style. The most common style used in the social sciences is the Chicago Style’s Author-Date System, described below. You may also wish to consult Kate Turabian’s A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 6th ed., 1996.
